Confirming Battle is Lacking

NO QUESTION HOWEVER THAT CLASH IS IMMINENT

A Decisive Movement of the Japs is Expected Hourly.

REPORTED LOSS OF 30,000 MEN

Turns Out To Be a Japanese Hoax Which Was Given Out For Effect on Kuropatkin.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—(Bulletin)—It is reported that a battle is now being fought at Tashichao.

London, July 15.—Nothing in the way of confirmation has been received of the report current in several European capitals yesterday that a battle between the main forces of the Russians and Japanese, long expected, had begun near Tashichao. As a result, army circles characterize the report as premature. There is no question, however, that such a battle is imminent, and the fact that it had not yet occurred is in all probability due to the desire on the part of the Japanese to get into a position where they can inflict a more crushing blow at the forces of General Kuropatkin.

Nothing further has been heard of the sensational reports regarding Port Arthur's fall or the other report that the Japanese had been repulsed with heavy losses. Some decisive movement on the part of the Japanese outside of the Port is hourly expected, however.

A JAPANESE HOAX.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—It now seems that the story of the loss of 28,000 to 30,000 men in the Japanese army was a miserable hoax on the part of the Japs, suggested in order to mislead Kuropatkin and cause him to advance. The joyful feeling here has turned to mortification and disgust.

JAPANESE LOSSES.

London, July 15.—A dispatch from Mukden this afternoon reports that the Japanese losses during the fighting on the right flank of the defenses at Port Arthur on July 3 to 6 inclusive, were 2000. The Russian losses were insignificant. The dispatch adds that the Russians drove back the Japanese and occupied the heights commanding Lusanian Pass.

JAPS LOST 3000 MEN.

St. Petersburg, July 15.—2 a. m.—The people of St. Petersburg retired last night in a happy frame of mind. The absence of a dispatch from Lieutenant Stocssel, commander of the military forces at Port Arthur, regarding the reported disaster to the Japanese, last Sunday night is generally attributed to the delay in communicating official news owing to the absence of the emperor.

Private dispatches received in St. Petersburg from Russian sources in the Far East confirm the reports from Mukden and Chifu. According to a usually reliable source the Japanese losses were 2,800 and the Russian losses 1,800. It was only late tonight that a dispatch arrived, which had it become generally known, would have tended somewhat to dampen the enthusiasm. This was a dispatch from Tashichao communicating an undated dispatch from Port Arthur received there July 13. It did not mention the assault or the repulse, but is quite possible that the dispatch was sent from Port Arthur earlier than July 10 so that it cannot be fairly regarded as contradictory evidence.

The news that the Vladivostok cruisers and torpedo boats were out again filled the Russian cup of joy to overflowing.

The retreat from Yin Kow and perhaps from Tachekiao does not weigh in the balance. People who had begun to grumble at General Kuropatkin are inclined under the influence of the news from Port Arthur to take the opposite view, which is also voiced by a trained military expert who says the retreat from Kajeow was a masterpiece in tactics.

In this light General Baron Stakelberg's march appears to have been a stroke of genius since he kept in contact with the enemy and prevented a juncture of the Japanese armies.

SNAKE STORY

That Reads Like a Chapter From Fairyland Comes From the Pacific Coast.

Portland, Ore., July 15.—The verisimilitude of a snake which every year bothers Luther King, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg, is appearing beneath the skin of his left leg. By August he will have developed other peculiarities of a rattlesnake. King was bitten by a rattlesnake August 7, 1873. Each year since the form of a snake has appeared under the skin of his leg, beginning at the foot and working to the knee where he was bitten. Then it disappears.

Spots like those of a rattler grow each August upon his skin. These finally break exuding poison. His leg is numb and helpless. From August 1 to 10, he is blind, as are rattlers, and eats nothing. He is unable to remain in the Soldiers' Home during these periods. A cousin will this year care for him until he his snakeish symptoms leave.

OPINION

Of Judge Bradford in the Northern Securities Company Filed at Trenton Today.

Trenton, N. J., July 15.—Judge Bradford today filed in the United States circuit court his opinion in the famous litigation between E. H. Harriman and others against the Northern Securities company. The result of the opinion is that a preliminary injunction is granted enjoining the carrying out of the proposed plan of distribution of stock of the Northern Pacific railroad and of the Great Northern railroad. In granting the preliminary injunction, Judge Bradford says in his opinion that litigation is not ripe for a final hearing and that the provisional injunction is granted in order to protect the rights of the complainants, because, should the final decision result in favor of the complainants, there would be no assets left for distribution without a preliminary injunction.

Services were held at 1:30 p. m. with addresses by A. A. Tanner, an employee of the Jones factory; Brand Whitlock and Rev. A. M. Hyde. Interment was made at Woodlawn cemetery.

STRIKE

Trouble is Feared at South St. Paul

STRIKERS REFUSED TO LET OFFICE FORCE IN

Manager Bangs Asks for the Aid of Soldiers.

CHICAGO GUARD IS INCREASED

Some Hope of Agreement, But if Not Soon, a General Strike Will Be Result.

St. Paul, Minn., July 15.—(Bulletin)—Serious trouble is feared at the Swift plant, south St. Paul. The strikers are lined up at the entrance 800 strong today and refuse to let the office force enter. The strikers claim that the office employees are doing the slaughtering. The sheriff has declined to escort the office employees in, fearing a riot. Manager Bangs, of the plant, has gone to the governor's office to ask for militia. Governor Vasant is out of the city.

Mayor Lytle of south St. Paul, headed the office force and started to break through the strikers' lines. There was determined resistance but no open violence. The mayor abandoned the effort. The excitement is intense.

GENERAL STRIKE FEARED.

Chicago, July 15.—Fearful that a single spark of trouble might bring another serious riot in the great stockyards strike, the police guard about the yards was increased today by heavy detachments. In some quarters the number of police was more than doubled. So serious was the temper of the men, that the highest officials of the packing house council made tours in person, breaking up knots of excited men and pleading for quiet and order. In several instances these officials were threatened with rough treatment. International President Donnelly began drafting a reply to the packers' last proposal to be presented to the second joint conference this afternoon. In all quarters of the yards, there were predictions that in case some agreement is not reached before nightfall, a general strike calling out all the mechanical trades at the yards will come tomorrow. Although the packers have rejected the first offer of the strikers and the union men declare they will not consider any proposition less than their original demands, communications have not been broken off and there was another offer and counter offer today.

NEW MEN GO TO WORK.

Chicago, July 15.—This morning Armour & Co. resumed the buying and slaughtering of hogs on a fair scale. One hundred and fifty new men were taken to the Armour packing house this morning. Many other new workers were distributed among the other packing houses.

The increase of loading and shipping is estimated at twenty per cent over that of yesterday.

Receipts of cattle at the yards this morning were 3,000, sheep, 8,000; hogs, 9,000. More will be in during the day.

The marked increase in shipments is taken to indicate a lifting of confidence on the part of cattle men that the packers will be able to handle the live stock.

FOUR PLANTS RUNNING.

Kansas City, July 15.—The Armour, Swift, National and Cudahy packing companies are filling today. Armour put on two hundred new men today and Swift, over one hundred. Both declare they have the men they want. Schwarzenberg and Selzberger and Ruddy Bros. are the only plants not running. Peace continues in the packing district. Meat prices are stationary.

SHORTAGE MAY REACH $180,000

DEPOSITORS IN THE DEFUNCT CAMBRIDGE BANK MAY GET NOTHING.

Defaulters Have Not Been Heard From—Detectives Said To Be Hunting For the Men—Treasurer McDonald Is Sued.

Cambridge O., July 15.—Receivers Orme and Okey have about completed the work of balancing the books of the defunct Commercial bank of this city and have filed their first report. It is quite probable that the shortage of that institution will be $180,000 and that it will not pay any of its indebtedness to depositors.

Judgments have been taken against the bank and divers persons as a result of the bank failure in the aggregate amounting to more than $50,000, but several of the judgments are worthless. The board of education of this city has entered suit against Treasurer H. F. McDonald and his bondsmen for $6,440.16, the amount of school funds he had deposited in the Commercial bank. New cases are being filed every day which goes to augment the awful indebtedness of the bank. Pressly Patterson and H. O. Barber, the defaulting cashier and vice president, have not yet been heard from by any person, at least on the outside, and they have not yet been arrested, although it is reported that detectives are at work looking up their whereabouts.

It is believed that an old miser named John Oglethorpe, who fell a victim to the Sioux Indians, buried the treasure.

CONFERENCE

Between Judge Parker and Prominent New York Leaders—National Chairmanship Not Settled.

Esopus, N. Y., July 15.—State Senator McCurren, Congressman Bourke Cockran, August Belmont and William R. Rody, of the Democratic state committee, came to Rosemont yesterday on invitation of Judge Parker and conferences on matters pertaining to the coming campaign were held.

The conferences between Judge Parker and Senator McCurren lasted about an hour, and from what was learned after the conference, there is a strong impression here that Mr. Sheehan is no longer to be thought of in connection with the Democratic national chairmanship, and also that those in the political leadership do not regard the national committee as in any way bound to Thomas Taggart, of Indiana.

It may be said that if any one has been selected for the national chairmanship, there is no reliable information obtainable as to who he is.

"It is only a question of the major, as I see it," said Senator McCurren after the conference. "The question of the campaign funds will not play the part it has played in the last two campaigns. This time it is more a question of man than of any issue and the decision lies with the people."

absolutely. The sordid element will not be so much a feature as in the past.

"The minute I saw the gold dispatch, and I was with Mr. Sheehan when he received it, I said it was the right thing under the circumstances."

Six carloads of enthusiastic friends of Judge Alton B. Parker came down on a special train to celebrate the judge's nomination.

Carbine, who used the shed as a clothes cleaning establishment, was killed instantly. Mrs. Alice Buckley, who worked for Mrs. Carbine, who was blown from the building died in the hospital. Dispatches Bringing Important News at the Last Hour of the Afternoon

Thomas Taggart, temporary chairman of the Democratic national committee, says that he will not issue the call for the coming meeting at New York to effect a permanent organization. Taggart is hopeful of being elected chairman.

Edward Lloyd Shoemaker, from Hamilton, Ont., had a narrow escape from going over the American Niagara Falls last night. He was walking on Winona Island and stepped on a rock at the water's edge. He slipped and fell into the water. He was carried rapidly down stream toward the falls. He struggled bravely to reach the shore, and just above Goat Island bridge, when he had given up hope of reaching the shore, he struck a rock and managed to cling to it until his strength returned. He then succeeded in reaching a place of safety just below the bridge. He walked to a saloon, where he collapsed on the floor.

CAB

Mystery Engages the Police

BEAUTIFUL YOUNG WOMAN IS MISSING

Her Wealthy Escort Found Dead in the Cab.

RICH VARNISH MANUFACTURER

Took a Ride With a Pretty Young Woman Then Became Ill and Suddenly Died.

New York, July 15.—The police have another cab mystery on their hands and are today searching Brooklyn for a beautiful and mysterious young woman, who was in a hansom cab with C. W. H. Carter, a wealthy retired varnish manufacturer when he died.

An autopsy will be held today to determine the cause of Carter's death, but police physicians say Carter's death was due to natural causes. According to the story of James McGuire, the cabman, Mr. Carter met the young woman in front of Borough Hall, Brooklyn, last night, after which Carter directed him to drive him through the park. When they were about to return McGuire says the young woman rapped on the glass and said her companion was sick. She asked him to get down and help her. McGuire found the man collapsed on the floor of the cab. He thought he had fainted. The young woman directed McGuire to drive to the Hotel St. George. Before the hotel was reached she stopped the cab and told McGuire that her companion was all right and that she would be around to the hotel in a few minutes. She said she lived nearby and desired to go home first.

McGuire drove to the hotel and there an examination by the clerk showed the old gentleman was dead. The body was taken to Adams street station where the identification was made. Carter's two sons said they knew nothing of the young woman and asked that she be looked up. Detectives are now searching for her.

MISTAKE

Made By Two Men Who Kidnapped Sam Neilly of Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis, Tenn., July 15.—Sam Neilly, 19, of Minter City, Miss., has returned home after an absence of five days. He declares that he was kidnapped by two white men, who forced him to pull off his clothes, wade down the river two hundred yards, crawl through a swamp; and then get in a wagon. He says he was bound and gagged near Eupora and informed that he must write a letter to his father asking for a large ransom. It developed that they had mistaken him for "Jimmie" Townes, a son of the wealthiest man in the country. When they discovered their mistake they released him. Neilly says that although the men were masked, he would know them.

UNION CENTER

New Names For District Where Union, Granville, Harrison and St. Albans Lines Intersect.

Union Center, July 14.—The citizens of this community have at last agreed on a name for this vicinity, and decided, as all had gathered in close union near the center of the community, to give it the name of Union Center. Action was then taken to have the news of the place inserted in the columns of Licking county's best paper, and it was unanimously agreed that The Newark Advocate was the best and most progressive paper printed in the county. A correspondent was selected and instructed to keep a sharp lookout for all news worth reading and which would also be of interest to those at a distance. Union Center is a district situated around a point where the lines of Union, Granville, Harrison and St. Albans townships intersect. Included in the vicinity of Union Center is the celebrated Fulton Spring, well known on account of its magnetic waters. It is thought by many that the waters from this spring are a remedy for all ills, and quite a number still make weekly visits to it. The farm on which the spring is situated now belongs to Mr. Edward Long, who purchased the farm several years ago from Mr. Fulton, the man for whom the spring is named. It is thought that in time capital will be raised and a sanitarium built at the spring for those wishing to regain health. The spring is about four miles west of Granville, and would be a suitable place for such an institution, as the scenery is splendid and adapted to such use. On inquiry among the older residents regarding the spring they assert that every Sunday the grove surrounding the spring resembled a camp meeting or a fair, as buggies and other vehicles carrying large numbers of people, arrived at the spring to spend the day, as people now flock to the parks and other pleasure resorts. Only in recent years has this weekly concourse of people subsided and finally died out.

Invitations are now out announcing the wedding of Mr. James Johnson, a promising young blacksmith of Outville, to Miss Emma Spellman, an accomplished young lady of this place, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spellman. The wedding takes place this evening. The young couple have the best wishes of their many friends. They will be at home in Outville, where the groom's place of business is located.

THE W. C. T. U.

Our meeting was held as usual at 2.30 in the First M. E. church. Miss Jennie Cool led the devotional. A Scripture lesson was read from St. John (15th chapter), after singing and prayer ended this part of the meeting.

At three o'clock the business part was taken up.

This being the National Independence day (Mary H. Hunt's birthday), a program pertaining to this was carried out by Mrs. Patt and Mrs. Stella Anderson.

Notwithstanding the inclement weather a few were present to enjoy a good meeting.

Next Tuesday's meeting will be led by Mrs. King, and the subject will be "Purity," discussion. Hannah Whitehall Smith says:

"I have not a shadow of doubt that if all our eyes could be opened today we should see our homes and our places of business and the streets we traverse filled with the chariots of God."

There is no need for any one of us to walk for lack of chariots. That cross inmate of your household who has hitherto made life a burden to you, and who has been a juggernaut car to crush your soul into the dirt, may henceforth be a glorious chariot to carry you to heights of heavenly patience and long-suffering. That misunderstanding, that mortification, that unkindness, that disappointment, that loss, that defeat, all these are chariots waiting to carry you to the very heights of victory you have so longed to reach. Mount into them then with thankful heart and lose sight of all second causes in the shining of his love, who will carry you in His arms safely and triumphantly over it all.

Mrs. Elizabeth H. Thompson, of Lillydale, N.Y., Grand Worthy Wise Templar, and Member of W.C.T.U., tells how she recovered by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I am one of the many of your grateful friends who have been cured through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and who can to-day thank you for the fine health I enjoy. When I was thirty-five years old, I suffered severe backache and frequent bearing-down pains; in fact, I had womb trouble. I was very anxious to get well, and reading of the cures your compound had made, I decided to try it. I took only six bottles, but it built me up and cured me entirely of my troubles. "My family and relatives were naturally as gratified as I was. My niece had heart trouble and nervous prostration, and was considered incurable. She took your Vegetable Compound and it cured her in a short time, and she became well and strong, and her home to her great joy and her husband's delight was blessed with a baby. I know of a number of others who have been cured of different kinds of female trouble, and am satisfied that your Compound is the best medicine for sick women."—MRS. ELIZABETH H. BOYS' BRIGADE

WILL CAMP AT BUCKEYE LAKE, JULY 19-29.

Camp To Be Named After General Manager Harrigan—Those Who Will Attend.

The Boys' Brigade is not a military organization for military purposes, but is organized on a military basis to teach obedience and discipline, what every boy, to become a successful man, must learn. The primary object of the Boys' Brigade movement in England and the United States is to help boys "know themselves," to teach them reverence for what is divine in nature and revelation. All large cities have companies, battalions or regiments. In the United States over 80,000 young men and boys are members of the organization.

The local battalion, which belongs to the Fourth Ohio regiment, with headquarters at Cincinnati, will encamp at Buckeye Lake, July 19-29. The encampment which because of unusual kindnesses from Mr. J. R. Harrigan, is known as "Camp Harrigan," will be under the care and supervision of Rev. J. C. The Republican papers which were a short time ago declaring that Judge Parker was merely a creature of Mr. Hill, and that as president he would do the will of the latter are now taking a different tack. Since his manly and decided telegram to the St. Louis convention they assert that he is an astute politician, and that he has already attained the absolute leadership of his party. Judge Parker's vigorous and decided action has in fact caused an entire revision of Republican ideas, not only concerning him, but also regarding the whole political outlook. Until he spoke the Republican leaders and organs were resting secure in the belief that they were going to have a walkover in this campaign. Now they realize that they are face to face with defeat, and it is not surprising that they are showing evidences of much disturbance of thought.

Foreign Trade at Expense of American Consumer.

The Democratic platform utterances against trusts voice a popular demand that is gaining rapidly in strength. The maintenance of high-tariff schedules to enable trusts like the United States Steel Corporation to impose extortionate prices upon the domestic consumer and build up a foreign trade at the expense of the home market is a mere travesty on protection. It is contrary to the fundamental principles of every consistent protectionist from Hamilton to McKinley. It prevents the grossest abuse of the protective system that has ever been brought to light.

Class legislation could hardly go further and the silence of the Republican platform regarding this aspect of

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Citizens Building Association held Wednesday night, a semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. was declared and ordered placed to the credit of each share of stock. This meant that each customer of the Citizens will be paid in cash or have his loan stock credited with a 3 per cent dividend, no more nor no less. The condition of the Citizens is very prosperous, and homebuilders should investigate its liberal plans. 14d7c

OVATION TO JUDGE PARKER

TENDERED BY HIS FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

Six Car Loads Visit Him, including Republicans as Well as Democrats—His Speech.

Esopus, N. Y., July 15.—Yesterday six carloads of enthusiastic friends of Judge Alton B. Parker came down on a special train to celebrate the Judge's nomination. Most of those who came were Democrats, but there were not a few old Republican friends of the Judge, and the celebration was designed to be non-partisan in character.

Headed by the First Regiment band of Kingston the visitors marched to Rosemont and gave Judge Parker a rousing ovation. The speech in behalf of the visitors was made by former State Senator John J. Linson, of Kingston, who spoke substantially as follows:

"You may have heard it remarked at some time during your long residence among us that Ulster county was settled by the Dutch. Be that as it may, there is one Dutch characteristic that its citizens share with all the people of our great nation. They admire a man who sees the right, and, seeing, dares to do it. It is for that reason as well as for the respect and affection felt for yourself personally that this assemblage of your neighbors has gathered tonight to do honor to you, to whom has come a distinction that only one in millions can attain.

"It is related of a great Republican leader, now deceased, that when an opponent in the house of representatives had shouted to the chair, 'Mr. Speaker, in the words of Henry Clay, I had rather be right than be President,' he retorted with sarcasm, 'Don't be afraid, you'll never be either.'

"Since the glorious sunburst of the fateful Saturday when the telegram flashed from Esopus to St. Louis your words that have become history it may be demonstrated that a man can be right and be President, too.

"But we have come here simply to take you by the hand, to assure you of our unalterable appreciation and regard, to congratulate you on the esteem in which you are held by one of the great parties of the nation, at least, and to say to you that whether your next few years are to be kept at Rosemont or in the White House, whether you walk among us as a private citizen or sit in the chair at Washington, of Jefferson and of Lincoln, you will occupy precisely the same position in the hearts of those who know you best."

In reply Judge Parker said: "Senator Linson, gentlemen of that gallant band of 26 that went over to St. Louis the other day, old friends and neighbors:

"There are never any friends like the old friends. Friendship is not a plant of rapid growth. For more than a quarter of a century I have passed among you; day by day we have met one another upon the streets as we were going about our several duties. We chatted together at the clubs, and met in social intercourse at our respective homes. We sorrowed together when dear friends passed away. Together we helped one another in our various needs. We rejoiced together when some great good came to the lives of some of our friends.

"During those years we formed relations of friendship with one another. As an illustration of it we find that 26 of you went all the way to St. Louis through the heat to say something kindly of one of their friends of that Kingston and Ulster county band, associated together for so many years, and I know very well that they have not told the whole truth at St. Louis. There is something about those friends whom I have known so well all these years that makes it impossible

DEMOCRATS CLAIM BOTH INDIANA AND ILLINOIS

So Says National Committeeman Sullivan of Chicago—He Further States the Republicans Should Not Force Themselves to Believe They Will Easily Carry Middle West.

Chicago, July 15.—"There is no truth in the report that the Democrats have given up hope of carrying Illinois and Indiana and will make their main fight in the East," said Roger C. Sullivan, the newly national committeeman from Illinois, today after his return from St. Louis. "If the Republicans think they will have an easy time in the Middle West they will soon discover their error. Parker and Davis will win. How? Like this: We are sure of carrying New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, West Virginia and Delaware in the East. We are also sure of carrying Nevada and Montana in the far West. The South will be solidly Democratic as usual. In Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois the Democratic National committee will make a vigorous fight, and if the Republicans lose one of these three states they will lose the election."

As he is to be a member of the National executive committee, Mr. Sullivan speaks with knowledge.

OUR NEXT PRESIDENT

Parker is a Guarantee of Safety and Will Be Elected.

(Washington Post.)

The national Democracy has turned its face toward the light.

It has named for president of the United States a candidate who represents the sane sentiment of the mass of the party and the patriotic purpose of the American people.

What it means, and what the country will recognize in his nomination, is a reversal of the attitude of the two great parties. The Democracy, from radical, becomes conservative. The Republican party is left as the exponent of radicalism.

Alton B. Parker is the safe man. Theodore Roosevelt is the dangerous man. The contrast is made between the judicial temperament, the statesmanlike force of character of Judge Parker, and the fiery impulsiveness of the Rough Rider.

Can it be doubted which candidate will appeal the more strongly to the solid sense of the American people?

Parker is a guarantee of safety. Roosevelt is a danger.

There are excellent reasons for expecting the election of Judge Parker. He comes from the State of New York—the state whose vote still decides presidential elections—and he will carry his state. He has done it before when a candidate for high judicial office, against great odds, and by the force of his personality, his character for them to tell the exact truth about a friend, and I know well that in talking to the several delegations there they failed to recollect aught but those things which pictured their neighbor as they liked him, and liked to view him. I need not say that I am very grateful to those men. I did not ask them to go, but I appreciated the fact that they went. I knew that they would be a force there, as I have learned they proved to be, and I know very well if a little effort had been made that the band could have been very largely increased from among friends and neighbors who would have been only too glad to go.

According to Receiver Webb's report of the condition of the Homestead Building and Savings company, the deficiency amounts to $86,122.39, but as against the deficiency the receiver has whatever percentage the Newark Savings bank will pay of $22,459.83 of the association's money on deposit there and also has a mortgage given by Mr. and Mrs. James F. Lingafelter and wife calling for $50,000 and some official bonds. Three loans amounting to $1,247.46, not appraised, have been paid on promptly to date.

I have in my possession a mortgage given by J. F. Lingafelter and Mary J. Lingafelter, his wife, upon several pieces of property for the sum of $50,000, conditioned as follows:

Provided always and these presents are upon this condition that, whereas, there is by these presents made, a lien and charge on the property hereinbefore described, in the sum of $50,000 to the Homestead Building and Savings Company of Newark, O., and it is hereby expressly provided that said lien of $50,000 on said property shall continue in force until such time as the difference may be righted and approved by the deputy inspector of building and loan association companies of the state of Ohio, as exists between the reports of James F. In pursuance of said mortgage an expert accountant was employed and is now at work, receiving one dollar per hour and expenses ($45 per month).

IDLEWILDE

IS MAKING A FINE RECORD ON TRIP THIS WEEK.

Coshocton Plays Here Sunday—Columbus Race Results—Emerson Sluggers Win—Sport Notes.

Every person in Newark is interested in the success of the Idlewilde baseball team which is on a week's trip, and its record to date is little short of remarkable. The team played in Urbana Monday and Tuesday winning both games and in Piqua Wednesday and Thursday the team broke even; on the former day losing 2 to 0 in a game in which the umpire gave the visiting team an awful roast. Thursday they won 3 to 1 and to win a game in Piqua the visiting team has got to out-class the Blacks.

Never before has so much interest been manifested and the telephones in The Advocate office is kept busy from 6 o'clock until late in the evening answering inquiries as to the score. Should the team lose both today and Saturday its record will be one of which both Manager Driscoll and the players are to be congratulated.

A tremendous crowd undoubtedly will give the team a royal welcome when it meets Coshocton next Sunday at Idlewilde park.

Emerson Sluggers Win.

The Emerson Sluggers won from the West Ends by a score of 9 to 6. The game was fast throughout. The features were the pitching of Davis and the catching of Belmar for the Sluggers. Score by innings:

R. H. E.
Sluggers: 2 1 0 1 2 0 2 0 1—3 11 7
West Ends: 1 0 0 1 2 1 0 1 0—6 5 9
Batteries—Davis and Belmar; McCarty, Miller and Trittapoc.

Columbus Race Results.

Columbus, O., July 15.—Thursday's racing card was marked with unusually good performing. The track was fast, the attendance good and the outcomes in fine little. Stein took the 2:20 pace handily. Judge Green the 2:11 trot in straight heats and Snyder McGregor the 2:17 trot similarly. In the match pace, 2:04 event, Major C. Gers up won both heats.

Want a Kite-Shaped Track.

Columbus, O., July 15.—The directors of the Columbus Driving Park association have decided to establish a half mile kite-shaped track within their present mile course at the driving park. It will be so constructed that the same judge's stand may be used for both tracks. Work will begin at once. It is the intention to introduce running races as well.

NEWARK vs. PIQUA 1.

Piqua, O., July 15.—The Idlewilde baseball team of Newark, made an even break here by winning Thursday's game by a score of 3 to 1. Howard was in the box for Piqua and after the first inning pitched great ball, allowing only two hits in eight innings. In the first inning, however, five hits, one a two-bagger, by Wagner with the bases full, netted two runs. This lead could not be overcome by the Blacks, as Nel Mason for the visitors was in great form. In critical places when men were on bases, he was invincible and his victory was clean cut and well deserved. The Newark players were disappointed not to have a chance at "Roaring Bill" Kennedy, as they were confident of beating him.

Justice played a great game at short as did Wagner at second, the latter's batting being very effective.

Kennedy made a great catch of a drive from "Big Bill" Ferrell's bat. Snodgrass was in great form, not a Piqua player stealing a base. The score:
Batteries—Howard and Wharton; Mason and Snodgrass. Hits—Idlewilde 7, Piqua 5. Errors—Idlewilde 1, Piqua 2.

AMUSEMENTS
The attendance at the performances at Idlewild Casino during the week has been such that Manager Harris is encouraged to believe that he is again making the palyhouse a popular place to go to spend a pleasant evening. The bill this week has pleased every one, and nothing but words of praise are heard for the performance.
The two features are the Evans sisters in marvelous toe dancing, and the Electric Comedy Four, a quartet whose singing is really artistic. These two numbers are deservedly popular, and the reception of them by the audience is certainly flattering to the performers. The other three numbers are also enjoyable and the entire bill is a success.

THE COURTS
FRANK DAVIS WILL ATTEMPT TO PROVE AN ALIBI.
Case Comes Up Tomorrow—Man Adjudged Insane—Addis Lewis To Be Pardoned—Brevities.
Frank Davis, the old soldier who was arrested for horse stealing, and whose case will come up in 'Squire Atcherly's' court Saturday on a continuance, will attempt to prove an alibi. Attorney Charles Flory, of defendant's counsel, Friday received the affidavit of William Grant, superintendent of the Soldiers' Home at Washington, D. C., in which affidavit says that Davis was an inmate of that home continuously during the month of June, the 18th of which month the horse is alleged to have been stolen. It will be submitted in evidence Saturday.
Petition For Alimony.
Roxa T. Campbell, by her attorneys, Flory & Flory, has filed her petition in the common pleas court asking for alimony from her husband, Leroy W. Campbell. She says she was married on June 19, 1902, and that no children were born.
The plaintiff says that on and prior to August 26, 1902, the defendant notified her that he would not live with her any longer, and that on said day he compelled her to leave his home on his farm in Washington township; that he has failed to provide for her and she has been compelled to support herself as well as she could. Plaintiff also says that her health has been poor. She says that the defendant is the owner of a farm of 120 acres in Washington township, worth about $7,000, and is the owner of personal property worth about $500. She asks that she be granted alimony.

No Heirs Can Be Found.
In the matter of the estate of Jos. Martin, deceased, John M. Swartz, the administrator, says that on August 8, 1899, he filed his final account in the Probate Court and afterwards on October 5, 1899, the account was approved and confirmed, showing a balance in his hands of $242 due to the estate; that since that time, though the filing of said account was advertised as required by law, no heirs or next of kin have been found or made claim, nor have any persons made claim to said money or any part thereof and that the same is still in the hands of the administrator for distribution. Judge Swartz, therefore asked the court for an order declaring that said fund has escheated to the State of Ohio, and that the same be paid over to the prosecuting attorney to be applied by him as required by law.
The court therefore ordered that the administrator give due notice by publication to the unknown heirs of Jos. Martin, deceased, in some newspaper for four consecutive weeks, advising them that unless by August 13, 1904, they appear and make claim to said fund, the same will be ordered to be paid to the prosecuting attorney of the county.
Pardon Is Recommended.
The Boards of Pardons has recommended to the governor the pardon of Addis Lewis, convicted of grand larceny and under the habitual act. The prisoner was sent up from Licking county in 1894. A condition is that he must refrain from intoxicants.
Court Notes.
In the matter of the exceptions to the inventory of William H. and Mary Davis, executors of Silas B. Woolson, it appeared from the evidence that nothing had been omitted from the inventory that should have been included.

A general strike of more than 3000 coal miners in the southwestern district, comprising Kansas, Missouri, Arkansas, Indian Territory and Texas, is likely to ensue soon after September 1, unless the conference of miners and operators now in progress at Pittsburg, Kansas, results in an agreement upon the wage scale, which seems improbable. There is a difference between them of from 20 to 23 cents per ton—a greater difference than ever before confronted an arbitration committee in the southwestern district.
A dog 11 years old, fat, intelligent and affectionate, was seized for the first time with convulsions, without loss of consciousness, when sharply reprimanded by his master. After this the animal was taken with a similar attack whenever his master entered the house. The convulsions taking the place of his customary manifestations of joy.
Sometimes buried landscapes exist in countries now densely inhabited. Recent investigation has shown that one lies beneath the region in England known as Charnwood forest. The rocky projections seen there are the peaks and arêtes of a buried mountain chain belonging to the old red sandstone period.

The completion of ships now under construction will make our navy twice as strong as it is now and three times as powerful as it was at the beginning of the Spanish-American war. It will rank as the third navy in theoretical tonnage and the second in actual fighting power.

HEALTHY PLANTS
Require the Most Careful Attention as Well as Good Soil.
Did you ever see a rosebush which, despite the most beneficent environment of soil of sunshine and of atmosphere, seemed never to achieve a healthy growth?
A ton of manure will not help a plant that has a canker eating out its heart. You must destroy the cause before you can remove the effect.
You cannot cure Dandruff and Baldness by rubbing on hair lotions, and rubbing in vasoline, etc.
You must look to the cause of the trouble—It's a germ at the roots of your hair which causes it to fall out.
Newbro's Herpicide destroys the germ, and healthy hair is the sure result.

THE RAILWAYS
B. & O. GRAIN ELEVATOR BURNED AT CHICAGO TODAY.
Loss Estimated From Half Million To $800,000—Dust Exploded—General and Local News.
Chicago, July 15.—A loss, estimated at from $500,000 to $800,000, resulted this morning from a fire in South Chicago which burned a huge Baltimore & Ohio grain elevator and many freight cars which stood on the adjacent tracks. The fire is believed to have been caused by an explosion of dust in the elevator.

Men May Unbutton Their Coats.
Ever since the stringent order was issued requiring the uniformed employees of the Pennsylvania railroad to wear their coats buttoned up closely, there has been an objecting element. Since the warmer weather has come on an element has grown until it has included almost every uniformed man on the system. These men will be made happy today when they read no notices that they will be permitted to go about with unbuttoned coats. The Pennsylvania, through General Manager W. W. Atterbury, granted this yesterday. The general manager held an audience with a committee of the employees, granting the request. The exact conditions are not yet made public.

A special train with a party of Baltimore & Ohio officials on board, passed through the city on Wednesday on a general inspection tour. The party included General Manager Potter, of Baltimore; D. D. Corrothers, chief engineer, and General Superintendent of Motive Power Muhlfield of Pittsburg, with their staffs. They travelled as the first section of No. 7 in a train of private cars. The officials are making a general inspection of the system.
Jesse Reiger, of this city, is fireman on Panhandle passenger engine No. 5480.
Captain Hayes, special B. & O. officer at this point, left for Parkersburg on Thursday.
The drawbar of a baggage coach on Panhandle No. 10, pulled out as the train was leaving the station this morning. The car was switched and placed on the rear end of the train, passenger train No. 112 on the B. & O. road known as the World's Fair Flyer, broke down at Sonora, delaying the train for some time. The night engine from this place took the train on as far as Benwood.—Cambridge Jeffersonian.

Scott Robinson, assistant road foreman of engines on the B. & O., reports that the motive power of the division has been severely taxed during the past few days by the heavy demands of the coal traffic. In the last twenty-four hours more than two hundred and fifty cars have been loaded between this city and the Ohio river. Two mines at Cambridge alone produced fifty-four carloads on Wednesday.

RIBBON FLOWERS.
Not Difficult to Make and Useful in Hat and Gown Decoration.
Ribbon is being used extensively this season, and there is such a variety of colors to choose from that it is not a difficult matter to copy any simple flower. The Delineator gives the following instructions: The most easily imitated perhaps is the rose, and a wreath of the flowers is shown in the first cut, while the method of forming the petals is illustrated. No. 9 satin ribbon was used, and the color is light pink. The ribbon is cut in lengths of three and four inches that there may be some variation in the size of the petals. These pieces are then doubled crosswise at half their length, and the corners of this folded edge are rolled two or three times to give the curled shape to the edge of the petal, then caught through on the wrong side of the folded ribbon, that the stitches may not show. The lower or cut edges are then placed together to make the petal cup shaped and secured with several stitches. The rose centers, the "calots," or green cups from which the stem starts, and the foliage can be bought at any shop that keeps materials for making paper flowers. The stems may be covered with rubber tubing that can be bought ready for use, or they may be wrapped with strips of green paper three-quarters of an inch wide. After the petals are made they are sewed to the centers, each petal slightly overlapping the next. From three to six petals are enough for each blossom. If too many are used the shape of the rose will not be natural.

MAKING ROSE PETALS.

When Filling Fruit Jars.
Speaking of the safety that a silver spoon imparts to the process of filling glass jars with hot fruit, a good house-keeping correspondent says she has found the spoon very much in the way in cases where a funnel was to be used and was glad when a friend told her of a simple plan just as efficient and more convenient. Stand the jar on a steel knife blade and it may be filled with safety and ease.
Another writer says cans may be filled without using either spoon or knife if one takes the cans from boiling water, sets them on a cloth wet in hot water, and fills them at once with the hot fruit.

Fashion's Echoes.
Small folding carriage parasols are a revival in old time sunshades.
Dimities grow lovelier each season, and there is a simple charm in this inexpensive material that makes it particularly suited to children's dresses.
For the small boy there is little save the Russian suit, and the variations must be made in the materials and the details. The smartest styles are the one piece blouses of pique, duck or linen.
The summer frock is often made picturesque by the quaint little fichu or the pelerine collar draped to give the fichu effect.
This is really a season of spangles. Wherever there is a smart late afternoon or evening gathering there will be seen glittering sparks galore and in almost every color.

The girl of fashion today looks most coquettish in her long sweeping gown, her big picture hat, her dainty slippers with square silver buckles, her parasol with long directive handle and even the filmy scarf she so carelessly catches around her pretty throat.
An artistic keynote is sounded in the revival of La Pompadour rose, which comes from the realms of the gay eighteenth century. Pompadour roses form the chief decoration of parasols, fans, sash ribbons, hand bags, card-cases and dainty lace handkerchiefs.

Polly's Maneuvering

By Martha McCulloch-Williams

Copyright, 1921, by Martha McCulloch-Williams

Snap was in full blast when Jack Jimmerson got to the Exum party. It was a play party—strictly. Pa Exum thought dancing the chief snare of the evil one, and the stout and hearty young folk simply could not keep still through a whole long evening. Notwithstanding, it had not been easy to get the playing started. Snap was useful for starting—it required, you see, so few extra bold spirits. In playing it a man and woman held hands, facing each other, thus forming something that could be run around. Another man ran around them once, twice, three, then snapped imperative fingers at some seated damsel, who, as in duty bound, came out on the floor and began chasing him round and round the standing couple. Quarry and hunter were privileged to dodge underneath the clasped hands if thereby they gained safety or advantage—privileged also to lay hold violently on the standers to save themselves from falling in the whirling rush. The first snapper, once he was caught, took the place of the man standing up. Then the girl he had snapped snapped onto somebody else to pursue her and when captured became likewise part of the central group, known technically as "the stump."

This explanation is necessary if one would understand why Jack Jimmerson was so wildly angry the minute he came in. There was his sweetheart, Ellie Andrews, scuffling boisterously about, turning, twisting, doubling, dodging, now falling to her knees, now springing agilely aside, with young Tom Wilson, of all men, in the very hottest pursuit. Plainly she had snapped ped him out—plainly, also, there was ground for the significant looks and whispers behind the hand, plentiful all through the room. It was part of the game to consider that a man snapped out thus was specially favored by the snapper. And Ellie had all along laughed at Tom—pretending to Jack she would have nothing to say to him, if he did have a big river bottom farm, to say nothing of money in two banks and expectations from his tough old grandfather.

Jack also had a farm—upland, rich and in good heart—but there was his mother to look out for, and his blind sister. He could never think of putting them off by themselves, and he knew it was asking a lot of a handsome and imperious girl to live in the house with them and accommodate her ways to theirs. So, though he had an understanding with Ellie, there was no set engagement. He had let her know how he found himself held and hampered and was waiting for her to study out the problem. She had known that he loved her ever since she was out of short frocks.

"Jack, I reckon you'll get a mitten, maybe a pair of 'em, for Christmas," Polly Exum said in his ear as he shook hands. Polly was a bouncing flaxen beauty, always laughing, with the kindest heart in the world and the most reckless tongue. She made no bones of letting it be known that she "loved Jack Jimmerson better'n pie"—also that it was a quite hopeless love so long as Ellie Andrews was single. "I'll give it over to marry somebody—a preacher maybe," she said to Jack himself. Therefore his conscience was quite easy regarding her, although it often seemed to him matrimonial providence had made a big mistake. Why did not Polly, pretty, laughing Polly, love the rich Tom Wilson? Why also did not Tom Wilson yearn to bestow himself and his belongings on her rather than on Ellie? But he kept his speculations to himself and answered, squeezing Polly's hand hard: "Why, who has cut me out with you, Polly? I never thought you'd go back on a fellow this fashion."

He tried to speak reproachfully, but wrath got the mastery. Polly giggled comprehendingly. "You know what I mean," she said. Then, with a little toss of her head: "There! Tom's done caught Ellie—he'll snap me dead sure—and I'll snap you. That'll give you a chance—if you ain't too bashful blind to use it."

True enough, Tom did snap her. She was off like a shot, weaving away after him. Dimble, supple, light footed, for all her 170 pounds. She was a fine figure, tall, lithe, perfectly proportioned and strong enough to hold her own with half the men in the county. Tom ran away from her manfully, but in a wink she had him fast. He was half a head lower than she, wherefore she looked down at him captive with twinkling eyes. "You ain't playin' the strength of the game," she said, smiling wickedly. "Over the river they do better. There it's catch and kiss."

Suiting deed to word, she gave Tom a resounding smack, then shoved him forward, blushing furiously, to take hands with Ellie. Ellie had laughed with all the rest, rejoicing, though, that her turn had come before this innovation. The rejoicing was, however, premature. True to her word, Polly snapped out Jack, and when he had duly caught, kissed and passed her on he called Ellie again to the floor. She shook her head and tried to sit still, but there was such uproar roundabout she got up and began the chase. It was a half hearted pursuit at first. Jack was evidently in little danger. But when he rashly leaned across the linked hands and blew a kiss in her eyes she could do less than slip underneath and try to seize him, but only in time to see him whisk to the other side. Then, entering a little into the spirit of the cross purposes she knew lay back of the game, she began a chase in good sooth—one that lasted five long minutes and ended only when, breathless and panting, she stopped still and found her quarry run fairly into her hands.

"Jack, I always knowed she'd run ye down at last. Make her kiss ye to bind the bargain," Polly said joyously, loosing one hand. Then to her partner she added coyly, "I don't know what's to become of us two—unless we can take each other for consolation."

"Why—why—Miss Polly, I hadn't never thought of it, but it might answer right down well," Tom said awkwardly, yet trying to be gay and airy. Jack stood facing Ellie with folded hands and downcast eyes, the moral and pattern of modest confusion, with yet telltale quivers at the corners of the mouth. After a second or two of waiting he said plaintively: "Miss Polly, Ellie don't play fair. What shall I do about it?"

"I reckon you had better marry her—jest try so," Polly retorted, and Ellie, the high strung, the coquette, after one glance into Jack's illumined face, whispered very softly, "I reckon so too."

They were married the next year, but not until Tom Wilson had carried Polly off to the river bottom farm. There she proved herself still more a friend of the lovers by stirring up Grandfather Wilson to court and marry Widow Jimmerson. Blind Harriet of course went along with her mother and became so great a favorite with grandfather he never rested until she agreed to let the doctor and the big hospital give her back some measure of sight—a thing Jack had urged all along, but for which she had never found courage.

"And only think—it all comes out of a game of snap," Ellie said to her new husband a month after the infare. "Polly don't look the least like a guardian angel, but she has been better than one to all of us."

Had a Big Trade All Right.

"I thought you said you had worked up a good trade here," said the man who had just bought a drug store. "So I had," replied the man who had just sold. "I put in six months working it up, and it's the best in this district."

"Best in the district!" exclaimed the purchaser. "Why, a man can't make enough money here to keep his shoes shined."

"Well," admitted the other slowly, "I didn't say anything about making money, you know."

"But you said you had a big trade."

"Yes, I said that."

"Steady stream of people coming and going most of the day."

"I recall saying something to that effect."

"Claimed your unflinching courtesy to all comers was responsible for it."

"Well, I think it was."

"Then where's the trade now? I haven't sold anything but postage all day."

"That's the trade I referred to," explained the former proprietor pleasantly. "When I left this place it had the largest postage stamp trade in this section, and if you have lost it it is your own fault. By the way, I have a letter to mail myself. If you would like my trade—"

He was quicker than the new proprietor and so escaped.

He tried to speak reproachfully, but wrath got the mastery. Polly giggled comprehendingly. "You know what I mean," she said. Then, with a little toss of her head: "There! Tom's done caught Ellie—he'll snap me dead sure—and I'll snap you. That'll give you a chance—if you ain't too bashful blind to use it."

SIX BROTHERS WHO ARE VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR.

GRAND ARMY REUNION IN BOSTON NEXT MONTH

Over 35,000 Lights Will Be Utilized In the Electrical Display—Many Girls to Participate in Portrayal of a "Living Flag"—Unique Automobile Parade for the Veterans.

According to Comrade W. A. Weatherbee, who has in charge all arrangements for the electrical illumination during the national G. A. R. encampment at Boston next month, it will be the most gorgeous lighting display ever seen in New England.

The devices, the arrangements and the detailed effects are to be kept profound secrets and sprung, or rather, turned on as a big surprise. Mr. Weatherbee, who chatted with a Boston Herald man the other day, said: "Everything is moving along with the most wonderful celerity. There are no hitches in the arrangements, and I feel justified in saying that the illumination, both in extent and in effect, will be the greatest ever seen in Boston. Our contract with the Edison company will call for about 35,000 incandescent lights. The main portion of the display will be in and about the Public Garden, which we hope to make a sunburst of glory. Then we shall illuminate portions of Commonwealth avenue, Arlington street and sections of the Common.

"We expect to have the entire route of parade a solid mass of decorations, and I have detailed special men to interview every person who owns property or rents property along the route, asking them to decorate. This will be more effective than a circular addressed to the people, and the men who call will offer suggestions to each decorator, so that a harmonious effect may be obtained. We estimate that there will be from 25,000 to 35,000 men in line, and as many more who will attend the encampment who will not march."

One of the interesting features in connection with the Grand Army parade in Boston will be that of the "living flag." Its composition requires the presence of nearly 2,200 children from the several schools of the city. They will be arranged in double rows, clad in colored caps and capes, representing the several red and white stripes and the blue field of the flag. They form a picture grand and inspiring beyond description. Arrangements for the feature have been placed in charge of Mrs. Lue Stuart Wadsworth, past national patriotic instructor of the Woman's Relief corps.

To form some idea of the length of this automobile parade it will only be necessary to reflect that 1,500 or 1,600 visitors will be in the line. The number of automobiles necessary to make this procession will be large. The line will be very long. As they start they will diverge, one half pursuing one route and the other half another, meeting at a point on the route, probably Concord, each passing in review before the other section. It is estimated that there will be over 700 automobiles in this procession.

WEST AFRICAN CANNIBALS.

They Cultivate Their Fields, but Plow Fully Armed.

An interesting story is told by the commissioners who have been engaged for the last eight months in tracing the Anglo-German frontiers in west Africa between the town of Yola and Lake Tchad.

The region traced is little known owing to the hostility of the tribes. The Fulani villages were found quite friendly, but the Hausa, a large town on the Benue, lies a mountainous region inhabited by pygmies who in many cases are cannibals.

They were found to be a last industrial people, but content with their fields with a good deal of manual. In most cases, says Reuter, they were practically naked but were always armed. Even when at work in the fields plowing they carried a full kit of spears, shields and poisoned arrows. The arrows are much dreaded, for they are tipped with a deadly poison extracted from vegetables and from dead bodies. This is carried in small

The children will be divided into two sections of 1,100 each, and each section will sing alternately, thus insuring constant singing during the parade. James M. McLaughlin, director of music in the Boston schools, will be the musical conductor for this occasion.

An automobile parade will be one of the features of the Grand Army encampment, says the Boston correspondent of the Washington Post.

This is not to be simply a long line of horseless carriages for the delegates to look at, but the latter are to be invited to step in and take a seat. They will then be taken on a ride over one of the most historical routes that could be found in the United States. It will follow out the famous ride of Paul Revere. From within sight of the tower of the Old North church—from which the famous rider received his signal—and from within sight of the Bunker Hill monument, the party will move out on the old Bay road, now known as Massachusetts avenue.

Over the Charles river into Cambridge the visitors will be taken past Harvard college and the old Washington elm, where Washington assumed command of the army of the revolution. Here also will be seen the old Longfellow house and the house where James Russell Lowell lived.

Over one of the finest roads in the country they will reach Lexington, where they will see the old Monroe tavern, which is rich in historical lore. Here is where Paul Percy, with his reinforcements, was enabled to hold back the American patriots while he converted the tavern into a hospital. In the barroom is to be seen a hole made by a British musket ball. Here also is a chair in which Washington sat while on his visit to Lexington in 1775.

Six miles beyond Lexington the visitors will arrive at Concord, also rich in its historical associations. Some of the superstitious people of Concord fully believe that the soldiers of Concord will be called out for actual war service April 19, 1947.

To form some idea of the length of this automobile parade it will only be necessary to reflect that 1,500 or 1,600 visitors will be in the line. The number of automobiles necessary to make this procession will be large. The line will be very long. As they start they will diverge, one half pursuing one route and the other half another, meeting at a point on the route, probably Concord, each passing in review before the other section. It is estimated that there will be over 700 automobiles in this procession.

Lady Curzon.

We have all been welcoming Lord Curzon back to London after his five eventful years in India. But probably he would be the first to own that he owes not a little of his success to the tact, grace and womanliness of his charming wife. Few even of the fair sex of the states, who have made so many "conquests" in this country, have done more in this way than Lady Curzon. The wife of a viceroy of India is perhaps the highest social position to which any lady not of royal blood can aspire. Lady Curzon, by the way, possesses a beautiful voice, as befits one who was a pupil of Marchesi.—Westminster Gazette.

Females First, Males Second.

One spring I observed with much interest a phoebe bird building her nest not far from my cabin in the woods. The male looked on approvingly, but did not help. He perched most of the time on a mullein stalk near the little spring run where phoebe comes for mud.

In the early morning hours she made her trips at intervals of a minute or two. The male tilted his tail and called encouragingly, and when she started up the hill with her load he would accompany her part way, as it were to help her over the steepest part, then return to his perch and watch and call for her return. For an hour or more I witnessed this little play in bird life. In which the female's part was so primary and the male's so secondary.

There is something in such things that seems to lend support to Professor Lester F. Ward's contention, as set forth in his "Pure Sociology," that in the natural evolution of the two sexes the female was first and the male second; that he was, in fact, made from her rib, so to speak, and not she from his rib. John Burroughs in Harper's Magazine.

bottles, and when fresh it proves fatal in a few minutes.

These people are adepts at game stalking and disguise themselves as birds and animals in order to approach their prey.

They are smaller than the Fulani, being often quite dwarfish, and they live in thorny grass huts perched in inaccessible nooks among the mountains.

At Kuka the sheik of British Bornu rode out to greet Colonel Jackson at the head of 200 horsemen and a large number of men on foot. He was accompanied by a band and dancing girls.

His people carried enormous spears, and some wore old armor, while the horses were caparisoned with housings like those of the crusaders.

The survey has proved that existing maps are to a large extent inaccurate and has placed the boundary farther to the east, thus enlarging the British sphere.—London Express.

New Kongo Route.

A meeting was recently held at the Sorbonne in Paris in honor of Captain L'Enfant, the African explorer, who has found a new road into the interior of that country which, it is claimed, will altogether supersede the present Kongo route. The aim of his mission was to find a means of communication between the Benue and the Logone and to see if it was possible for a large leaving the mouth of the Niger to reach Lake Tchad by following a water route—that is, the Niger, Benue, Mayo-Kebbi, Tonburi, Logone and Chari. Captain L'Enfant carried along with him a steel barge, taken over in sections, and successfully accomplished the journey. He says the route can easily be made navigable, shortening the time of the Kongo passage to six-to-five days and reducing the cost of carrying merchandise from $400 to $700 per ton. The link of communication between the Niger and Lake Tchad being thus discovered, a solution has been afforded of one of the greatest African problems.

To Weed Out Baronets.

A permanent tribunal for the investigation of all new claims to baronetcies and all existing doubtful ones has been suggested. The proposal comes from the baronets themselves, and it has been incorporated in a petition to the king.

The baronets are banded together in a society for the protection of their interests, and this is known as the standing council of the baronetage. These allied baronets certainly censor blacked baronets by refusing to enroll any person who cannot prove his claim to the title he bears.

Mr. Francis William Pixley, a well known barrister, who acts as registrar to the standing council, says baronets are waiting for the home secretary to act in the matter. He said: "Many of the bogus baronets are using in all sincerity titles falsely assumed by their grandfathers and great-grandfathers. It is quite a shock to them to know that they cannot substantiate their claim."—London Express.

Business Contracting.

J. J. Hill stands high as an industrial and economic authority, and what he has to offer on these subjects is well worth attention. General business, he says, is contracting. It was first apparent and is now most evident in manufacturing enterprises. The railroads are public carriers, and if the public has nothing to carry the railroads can do no business. As traffic decreases they must mark up their rates or lose money. Wages must go down and working forces be lessened. The railroads are dropping men because there is not work enough for all of them. The whole question falls back primarily upon decreasing business and the reason for it. The principal one is that the demand for the products of the United States is not now commensurate with the supply.—New York Tribune.

THE MUSLIN GOWN.

A Pleasing Design of Interest to the Amateur Modiste.

The fashion of a muslin gown is a matter well worth careful consideration, choice of design counting possibly for almost more in these pretty materials than in other more costly materials. And certainly the choice becomes an even greater matter of moment where the manufacture is to be trusted to untrained fingers.

It is all very well for the professional dressmaker to revel in the multiditious tuckings, ruchings, etc., which form the dominant note of so many designs, but in amateur fingers chaos would probably result from the apparently simple process and an ugly muddled appearance only reward much anxious, wasted work.

Fortunately this season's modes adapt themselves kindly to simplicity where necessary, especially where skirts are concerned. The suitability of the really full skirt (not the eased model gored to reduce the size of the waist) to muslins and kindred materials needs no demonstration, while the manner in which they submit to cleansing processes is a matter for congratulation.

In the sketch the skirt is pictured bearing six small tucks divided in groups of three by a deep band of lace insertion, guipure or broderie Anglaise, according to taste and circumstances. In cutting it is a good plan to allow a good four inch turning at the bottom of each gore, which, after the seams are pressed, can be stitched up into a hem—for nothing in unlined skirts equals a simple broad hem in the important matter of the bottom edge, and in this special example it not only is the easiest method, but likewise adds to the prettiness of the whole as simulating a wide tuck. The tucks should be all run (after the seams are stitched) in the same direction and with the upper part of each toward the skirt.

The bodice at first sight seems a more complicated affair, but on closer acquaintance it will be found to work out simply enough. Most prominent in its construction is the long shouldered yoke, which, slightly pointed at back, is continued down the front to the waist, plastronwise, the muslin being everywhere simply gathered on to it. The sleeves are of the particular long elbow length, so pronounced a feature of such frocks this season (though the substitution of the ordinary bishop sleeve for less smart wear would naturally be only a matter for individual consideration), and they are set into a wide turn back cuff of the insertion, edged with deep falling lace frills.

Convenience for the Gas Stove.

Convenience in connection with gas stove cookery are sets of kettles made in sections, pie fashion, so that three or four kinds of food can be cooked at the same time over one ring burner; a triangular dome, also a burnished plate on which a number of irons can be heated at once; a broiler in which both sides of a steak are cooked at the same time.

Sunburn From Sea Bathing.

The sunburn that is acquired from sea bathing is as painful and serious as any such affliction can be. A physician says it is a mistake to use for this or any burn from the sun's rays creams and oils. Much better is a free application of witch hazel, which not only heals but hardens the skin, and thus acts as both curative and preventive.

Faded by Sunlight.

Sometimes the woodwork in a piece of furniture which has stood in the sun's line or heat of a register looks dry, faded and full of fine lines. Rub into it pure boiled linseed oil. Several oilings with hard rubbing may be required to bring back the color and polish.

Cobwebs.

People who have the habit of usually manage to keep the grave green. A gentleman is one who is willing to concede something to his neighbor.

Child's arrows would doubtless be sure the mark if they were all tipped with gold.

A man never has enough money until he is able to indulge his fads without being called a fool.

The road that is paved with good intentions generally has a disinterested friend at every corner.

We often charge our adversities to the hard luck account, while the successes are owing to genius and undying perseverance.

ELKS

GATHERING IN CINCINNATI FOR CONVENTION.

Newark Lodge Will Be Represented In the Big Gathering at the Queen City.

The first Elk was registered for the national reunion of Elks at Cincinnati at the reunion headquarters in that city on Wednesday, and up to this time several thousand Elks have registered. Conservative estimates place the attendance at the reunion at from thirty to fifty thousand Elks. Forty thousand dollars will be used by the entertainment committee in furnishing public entertainment of various kinds for the visiting Elks. The opening ceremonies of the Grand Lodge reunion, which will be public, will be held at Music Hall Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and Governor Herrick and other distinguished officials will make addresses.

The parade, beginning Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, will be one of the greatest and most remarkable ever held in the country and thousands of dollars will be given away in prizes. As high as $50 has been given for single seals on the grand reviewing stand. The eleven o'clock toast will be impressively observed every night throughout the city. Bells in the fire alarm stations will toll three times each night—once at one minute before 11, then at 11 and then one minute past 11. At this solemn signal every street car in the city will stop for twenty seconds and all business will be suspended.

Newark Elks will begin going to the reunion tomorrow, and every train will contain contingents to the beginning of the reunion.
